

come come come come

where where where where my my my my my my my

there there there there

come where my there

The caterpillar called to tell his friends to come to his house for lunch.

Where did all of his shoes always disappear to?

I need to find my shoes.

thought the ladybird.

In the middle of the night,

there are always shooting stars in the sky.