

he he he he he he he they they they they they be be be be be be be your your your your your he they be your

Once the sun came out,

they could all go climbing in the green trees.

They are your shoes, said the ladybird.

He could not wait to give away his fluffy shoes.

The caterpillar knew he would be able to give away all of his shoes.