Today, we are learning to read words that contain aw saying /or/.

Sometimes when we see a and w as partners, they make an /or/ sound.
Let's try and say these together:

paw

claws

strawberry

Kit, Sam, Mum and Dad were still having fun at the space museum. Aubree, the museum guide, had just asked Kit and Sam if they wanted to go in a real spaceship! Of course their answer was, "Yes!"

Sam and Kit followed Aubree eagerly past pictures of stars and model planets. Mum and Dad followed behind. “We even have a new feature in the spaceship that I think you are going to love!” Aubree informed them.

“We call this the zero gravity chamber! Do you want to try?”
“Yes please!” squealed Kit and Sam together.
“OK then, join the line for your space suits and get ready to feel as light as air!” said Aubree, enthusiastically.

Tips For Space Training

Mum is reading a sign on the wall about how to train to be an astronaut.
Help her read the tips and find the correct words for the spaces.

After waiting patiently, the whole family were given space suits to wear. "I already feel like an astronaut!" smiled Sam. "I feel awesome!" said Kit as he looked inside the zero gravity chamber eagerly.

“Me! Me!” cried Kit and Sam, jumping up and down. Mum, Dad, Sam and Kit stepped inside the chamber. The door was sealed and then Kit could hear a loud whirring sound.

“Woah,” shouted Sam, just as she started lifting off the floor.
